

Privacy Statement

This website is owned and maintained by Polo Aviation Ltd.

We believe that the privacy of visitors' personal information is extremely important. That's why we'll never use your information for anything other than the uses we tell you about - and then only with your permission.

Cookies

We don't use cookies on this website.

IP addresses and server logs

Just like all Web Servers, our site records IP addresses and produces server logs. Be assured that this information is only used to monitor the volume of traffic the site receives and to measure the number of visitors accessing the site. It is not used to track the activities of site visitors.

Emails and online forms

We sometimes send out business emails but they are always sent with an unsubscribe option. If you've had any problems unsubscribing, please let us know via any of the contact details shown below.
